

Congratulations on your early registration and welcome to your free SFD team pack!

Please find enclosed your t-shirts, balloons, stickers, banner and DVDs to help your event rock! We have paid extra attention to the making, the packing and the shipping of these based on your feedback in previous years, but if anything is not right please do accept our apologies.

We're very pleased to have you participating in this 8th edition of SFD and making it happening one more time! SFD has been gaining popularity over the years thanks to a strong community supporting each others which you are now part of, and we're looking forward to seeing your team's report and photos on the website! We know reporting can be as difficult and time consuming as preparation, but it is really important for us as a community to be heard and let people know what happened!

Based on feedback from the mailing list and experiences in some countries we also feel that the time is right to engage with local public officials and government agencies; this can help you and your team to reach more people. Invite them to attend, involve them in the planning, educate them about FOSS!

For last minute planning, you can also refer to the StartGuide on the website for promotion and ideas. Above all make sure you and your volunteers have a fun day spreading the message about Software Freedom!

Good luck!

We send this with thanks to all the teams, supporters, sponsors, partners who are making it happen and especially You!

Sincerely,

Frederic Muller
President, Digital Freedom International
